Emergency Safe House

The cornerstone of our compassionate and comprehensive services for both female and male survivors, our emergency Safe House offers a confidential and secure location for survivors and their families fleeing violence. Survivors are provided with family housing for 30-60 days, counseling, case management, assistance in finding housing, and other supportive services regardless of sexual orientation and/or gender identity. The Safe House is completely handicap accessible.

180 believes that no one should have to choose between their personal safety and leaving their pet behind in a dangerous situation. Therefore, our Safe House includes pet-friendly rooms.

We provide survivor families with all basic needs, including food, toiletries, and clothing, and empower them to work towards independent living during their stay. Additional Safe House resources include experienced advocates who help survivors envision an abuse-free future, caring counselors who provide the tools to establish a safe new path forward, support finding employment and permanent housing, education, resume writing, and budgeting. 180's legal advocates can also assist residents in seeking restraining orders if needed.

Advocacy for Youth

The Safe House's Residential Youth Advocate strives to provide a welcoming environment for children as soon as their family arrives by providing them with an age-appropriate tour of their temporary home and a welcome bag with items to make their stay comfortable. Once the family settles in, counseling assessments are completed to understand the needs of each individual. The Youth Advocate works with each child to process the abuse they may have witnessed, and supports them as they adjust to their new environment and, in some cases, a new school, too. Advocates also incorporate creative arts, drama, music, and play therapy into counseling for children and teens.

"The Safe House saved me; it was there I set a new direction, a new path forward."
